Homemakers Items

Dollar-saving ideas are always welcomed by the homemaker, says Miss Katherine Habel, home economist at VPI.

She pauses these along:

If you are making new slip covers, include enough extra material to make a set of removable arm protectors of the same fabric. Be sure to match the design. Turn under and hem all edges. This is a neat way to keep your new slipcovers looking nicer and cleaner much longer.

To keep slipcovers from riding up, sew strips of tape onto inside seams (wrong side) next to legs of furniture. Have strips long enough so they crisscross around the leg and tie in a secure bow.

You can double the comfort of a favorite chair with a colorful easy-to-make foam rubber cushion. Cover a springy foam rubber cushion in a gaily colored fabric. Textured cotton is a good choice. Make the pad reversible, and the fabric removable so cleaning will be easy.

When choosing fabrics, don't feel that you must stick to the standard items. Some materials like pillow ticking aren't ordinarily used for window treatment, but used in the right spot they have an original air that's a tribute to your imagination.

With darkness coming early, candlelight can make a homey setting for late evenings. Don't use too few. Place candles in all parts of the room to add light.

Trade at home whenever possible. The dollar you spend may find its way back to you!

The only way to become financially independent is to spend less than you make—now.
